

GRADUATE DIVERSITY FELLOWSHIP

The Department of Geology at Utah State University seeks outstanding applicants for a Diversity Fellowship starting Fall 2018. This selective fellowship provides of graduate support in the form of a competitive stipend at $22,667/year, plus tuition and health benefits that total to over $40k/year.

The Department of Geology at USU is field oriented, has a dynamic graduate program, and is located in northern Utah surrounded by excellent outdoor opportunities. We are dedicated to promoting diversity in the geosciences, and we encourage applications from a variety of under-represented groups such as African Americans, Hispanic/Latinos, and Native Americans.

Visit <http://geology.usu.edu> for more information about our program and possible faculty mentors, and contact tammy.rittenour@usu.edu with questions. Applications are due January 8, 2018 at <http://www.usu.edu/graduateschool/>.